House solves his problems through an examination, which, of course, does not always help. House is very charismatic. He not only treats, but also creates the impression that he is doing everything for the benefit of the patient. Although, perhaps, his methods are not too humane. He has many of the skills of a surgeon. He is very cynical about everything. He has a penchant for sarcasm. He is smart. He loves his family. He loves his job. He loves to live in Los Angeles.
